Driver's despair as car is torched

NEWLY-qualified lifeguard Christopher Dawkins has been left counting the cost after his car was torched – putting his insurance premiums up by £1,000 to a whopping £3,300 a year.

Christopher, 20, was woken by the police at 4.30am on Tuesday with the news that his Vauxhall Corsa had been pushed on to a school playing field near his home in Abington Place, Haverhill, and set on fire.

The 1996 car was worth only about £400, but because of his age, Christopher was already paying £2,300 for insurance. Now he has been told that even though he is not claiming for the burnt-out car, his insurance for a new vehicle will cost him an extra £1,000.

For the past two-and-a-half years Christopher has been doing a cleaning job at Addenbrooke's hospital to pay for his car, which he only bought in April and has worked on since then. He recently passed his exams as a lifeguard and has just found out that he has a job at Haverhill Leisure Centre.

He said: "I was devastated when the policeman told me. It is my first car and I have saved up to buy it, and then spent loads on it.

"It is not worth claiming for it as the excess would be well over the value of the car. I have lost my car and now I have to pay £1,000 more for insurance.

"I always lock my car – I am fanatical about it and even go back to check it. I think it was just yobs, bored out of their brains, who wanted some fun and saw my vulnerable little Corsa. I am saving up to get married next year and hopefully to buy a house."

Christopher's mum Tracey Dudley said she was working late and parked her car next to Christopher's when she came home at about 1.15am.

She said: "It was sandwiched in, but they still managed to get it out. I am angry because it was his first car and he worked hard to save up for it.

"They just don't care what they do. I often work until 3am or 4am and the amount of young kids walking round then is unreal."

Warning as thefts from cars continue

MOTORISTS are failing to secure their vehicles and the property inside them as a spate of thefts continues to hit Haverhill. PC Will Wright of Haverhill police repeated advice given out on several occasions by officers after the latest series of 10 incidents in the town over a one-week period. One car was stolen from Haverhill and the other thefts were all from cars or vans. A campaign by officers, leaving notes for drivers who left vehicles insecure or valuables on view inside, appears to have gone unheeded. PC Wright said: "At the risk of sounding like a broken record, I would urge people to secure their property. We are still getting valuables left on view and car doors being left unlocked. People leave phones, laptops, handbags on view, making them easy targets for opportunist thieves. We are appealing the public not make themselves such easy targets for thieves." Anyone with information about thefts, or who has not reported one, should contact Haverhill Police on (01284) 774100 or Crimestoppers on 0800 555 111.

Car ends up in ditch after road collision

TWO people were injured in a road collision in which one car ended up in a ditch. Police crews from Suffolk and the East of England Ambulance Service were called at 4.15pm on Tuesday to the B1063 in Clare. The cars involved were a Volkswagen Jetta and a Mercedes C220. The male driver of the Volkswagen was taken to West Suffolk General Hospital with a possible fractured ankle and the other driver was treated for minor injuries at the scene.

Mum's fury as bike thieves target son for third time

Gutted: Amanda Goodwin was stunned when a bike belonging to her son Liam was stolen for the third time.

Picture: Duncan Lamont 764427.

SCHOOLBOY Liam Goodwin is the latest victim of a spate of bicycle thefts – the third bike he has had stolen in two years.

Liam, 11, had had the £150 BMX for just a month, paying for it with his own money saved from birthday and Christmas presents. He left it at the front of his father's house in Warren Court, Haverhill, for 15 minutes on Monday. Although it was locked up, when he returned it had gone.

His mum Amanda said they were both 'gutted' by the theft. The two bikes previously stolen were also new BMXs of a similar value and both taken from a bike shed outside her home in Camps Road.

She said: "I am gutted. I just feel there are some really nasty people out there and there is no need for it. What makes it even more heartbreaking is that he paid for it out of his own money. He had locked it up and looked after it, but it was still taken."

"He is really upset about it and feels like he has been kicked in the teeth. At the moment he feels that there is no point getting another one, as the same thing is just going to happen again.

"He uses his bike to go and visit his dad and it means he can be up there in a couple of minutes. He can walk, but that's not the point – he should not have to. It's not even the sort of place where people walk past; it is quite secluded. I think someone must have seen it and decided to take it."

The bike is a Piranha 450, which is distinctive, with a purple frame and neon green handle bars. It was taken only a week after Haverhill police warned of a spate of 10 bicycle thefts over a three-week period in the town, including an unusual limited edition Mongoose BMX stolen from mother-of-five Nikki Dunkley at Tower Court, Haverhill.

PC Will Wright of Haverhill Police urged cyclists to keep their bicycles locked up and, if possible, out of sight.

Anyone with information about any of the stolen bikes should contact Haverhill Police on (01284) 774100 or Crimestoppers on 0800 555 111.

Schools thrilled with record GCSE results

Best-ever grades for two town secondaries

BY JO DEEKS

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

GCSE results at Haverhill's two secondary schools have broken all records today, with pupils achieving the best grades ever.

Samuel Ward school, which this year became an academy, saw a 100 per cent pass rate with five or more A*-G grades, with 91 per cent of pupils achieving five or more A*-C grades.

There were also 65 per cent who achieved five or more A*-C grades in English, maths and science, 62 per cent of these in English and maths.

More than 30 per cent of the year group achieved three or more A*/A grades, with 75 per cent achieving an A*-C grade in English and more than 70 per cent in maths. More than half achieved an A*-C grade in modern foreign language and more than 30 per cent achieved the English Baccalaureate.

Head teacher Howard Lay said: "These outstanding results will enable so many pupils to access A-level and university courses. They are way above the national average and achieved through hard work, commitment and outstanding teaching.

"Our students have achieved high results in traditional subjects rather than opting for the easier options which do not help them progress to A-level. I am confident that we will again be at the top of the Suffolk league table for value-added outcomes."

Outstanding pupil successes include Megan Beardmore from Clare with 6 A*s and 4 As, Andrew Barrett-Sprot from Wickhambrook with 5 A*s and 3 Bs, Rebecca Cruz from Haverhill with 2 A*s and 7 As, Ronald Dadds from Haverhill with 4 A*s and 4 As and Adam Peck from Clare with 3 A*s and 5 As.

At Castle Manor Business and Enterprise College, 97 per cent of students achieved 5 A*-G passes, with 94 per cent gaining 5 A*-C GCSE grades. Some 52 per cent of students achieved 5 five A*-C grades including maths and English. A high number of this years students achieved the top A and A* grades.

Principal Madeleine Vigar said: "I am absolutely delighted. These are outstanding GCSE results, putting Castle Manor in the top five per cent of similar schools. Our students have worked extremely hard, supported by staff who go the extra mile to ensure success for all of our youngsters."

"These GCSE results are a real credit to our students and their families who have supported them. This is a momentous and proud day for Castle Manor."

Family fun is free

FREE family fun was enjoyed by visitors to Haverhill's recreation ground on Sunday.

The family fun day at Haverhill Recreation Ground was part of a programme of summer events staged by Haverhill Town Council. The sunny weather attracted about 150 residents, who took advantage of the free bouncy castle, slide, and magic show.

The afternoon was rounded off by a performance by Hadstock Silver Band.

This year's programme ends with another free tribute night on Saturday, (see facing page).

The final Wicked Wednesday event will be a climbing wall on Wednesday, August 31, at The New Croft on Chalkstone Way from 1pm to 3pm, with other play and sports equipment also available.

Down we go: children have fun on the bouncy slide.

Motorbike is stolen

THIEVES stole a motorcycle from the back garden of a Haverhill house over the weekend. The theft happened in Ufford Place between 4am on Saturday and 5pm on Monday, when a blue Yamaha DT125R trials motorcycle, registration DT03YAM, was stolen from the rear garden, where it had been left secured with a heavy chain and covered with a tarpaulin. Anyone with information should phone Haverhill Police on (01284) 774100 or Crimestoppers on 0800 555 111.

Crew called to car fire

FIREFIGHTERS were called to a car on fire in the early hours of the morning. One engine from Haverhill attended the blaze in Millfields Way at 4.05am on Tuesday. The car was found well alight and two hose reels were used to extinguish the flames by 4.25am.

Get electric blanket seen

ELECTRIC blanket testing sessions are to be held on Haverhill's market square. The sessions will be held on Monday, September 5 from 10am-4pm. Suffolk Fire and Rescue Service and Suffolk County Council's Trading Standards are organising the tests to reduce the number of fires caused by unsafe electric blankets. Anyone who has an electric blanket that has not been tested for three or more years can book a free five-minute test by phoning (01473) 260588.

Floral fun at village church

FLORAL arrangements and works of art can be viewed at a village church over the bank holiday weekend. Castle Camps United Reformed Church holds its flower festival and art exhibition on Saturday from 11am-4pm, on Sunday from 2pm-4pm and on Monday from 11am-4pm. There will be stalls and refreshments. Minister Karen Knight said: "We are delighted to be hosting the festival once again. On Sunday morning our service is to be led by Rev Chris Baker and at 6.30pm we will be holding a Songs of Praise when people can come along and sing their favourite hymns."

Mechanic's a sportier model after losing 8st

BY LEANNE EHREN

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

A MECHANIC from Haverhill can finally get behind the wheel of some of the industry's sportier models after losing eight stone.

When Robert Lambert started working at Saffron Walden Motors two years ago he was 22st 5lb and could not get the seatbelt done up when he tried to squeeze into a Mazda MX5. His boss failed to find a pair of overalls to fit him.

After taking action a year ago to shed the pounds, the now slim 14st 11lb said he feels 10 years younger.

Mr Lambert said: "The catalyst was when my niece hinted that she wanted me to lose some weight for her wedding. So I thought I'd go along with her to Weight Watchers.

"Sweets and biscuits were my thing; it didn't matter what they were, I would just eat any type I could get my hands on. So I had to cut them out straight away."

Mr Lambert, of Down's Crescent, Haverhill, attended weekly Weight Watchers meetings with his sister and stuck to the points system programme to find the weight fell off. He said he hasn't increased his exercise or done anything drastic other than cutting down portion size.

He said: "Nothing is banned on Weight Watchers and it's a permanent way of eating, which is why I like it and I'm proof that it works."

"It's great to have lost the weight – I feel 10 years younger and healthier. It's funny because people don't recognise me. I can even buy clothes now at normal shops whereas before I had to go to a market stall for fat people."

Mr Lambert has gone down from a "tight 50in waist to a loose 38in" and is looking forward to his niece's wedding next month in Rhodes.

Charles Hobbs, owner of Saffron Walden Motors, added: "It's great Robert can now fit in cars like a Mazda MX5 – which is a really popular car here – that he couldn't before."

"I remember when he came here two years ago we couldn't find a pair of overalls big enough. Now they're falling off him. He got loads more energy and is a happier person."

Oversized: Robert Lambert, above, in overalls which are now too big for him and left, as he was before losing weight.

More open-air entertainment

MORE free tribute band entertainment will be on offer at an open-air concert on Saturday night.

A crowd estimated at more than 4,000 people enjoyed the first tribute show at Haverhill Market Square earlier this month – and the town council is hoping just as many will attend the latest event.

Starting at 8pm on Saturday, the Sing Out Sisters and the Jackie Generation as well as local vocalist Jade Donno, a finalist in the 02 Open Mic competition, will entertain the crowds. The nights are part of the Summer in Haverhill programme and are suitable for all the family.

The Sing Out Sisters will perform hits from the 50s and 60s in a high-energy show with pop and soul classics, complete with costume changes and choreography.

As professional session singers, the voices of the Sing Out Sisters can often be heard on TV and radio adverts as well as on backing vocals for recording artists and bands

The Jackie Generation, pictured, celebrate the era of Curly Wurllys, Choppers and the massive chart-toppers of the 1970s. Their set includes the hits of Abba, Wings and Queen, in all the best of 70s fashion.

Camps Road will be closed to traffic before, during and after the performance.

Police in plea to dog owners

DOG owners are being urged to behave responsibly when out with their pets after a number of recent incidents.

In the past two weeks one woman has been bitten while trying to protect her small dog from being attacked by another in Haverhill, with two other incidents of disputes between owners leading to assaults.

PC Will Wright of Haverhill Police said he did not think there was a particular problem with dogs in the town, but asked dog owners to use common sense to make sure their pets were kept on a lead when necessary.

He said: "We ask dog owners to think about whether their dog is aggressive, is it in a safe and appropriate environment for a dog to be off a lead.

"It is about taking responsibility and ownership for your pet, making sure it is under proper control whether it is on or off a lead. If it causes injury to someone it is a criminal offence.

"We also get a lot of complaints about dog mess and people not clearing up after their pets. We get dog fouling at schools and on play areas. Plastic bags are available very cheaply; it is about being a responsible dog owner."

Sisters in step for the dance chance of their lifetime

TWO dancing sisters have had their dreams come true – with an opportunity to perform alongside top professionals.

Aspiring young ballet dancers Jali Parris, 15, and Georgie Parris, 9, of Steeple Bumpstead, were selected by English Youth Ballet (EYB) in a competitive audition in February to appear in a professional production of Coppelia at the New Victoria Theatre, Woking.

The sisters won the opportunity to dance alongside EYB's stunning international principal artists in a professional production, for three performances from September 2-3. The girls are currently experiencing the life of a professional ballet dancer – working at Esher CE High School in an 11-day intensive rehearsal process.

Company manager Ben Garner said: "Working with English Youth Ballet will most probably be the highlight of these talented young dancer's careers to date. The audiences watching EYB are in for a unique and exciting experience too."

"They will be seeing both top international principal artists and the best up-and-coming young talent – sharing the stage."

Man, 20, had 43 stun guns

Case adjourned for psychological report

A MAN has pleaded guilty to possessing 43 stun guns, pepper spray and cannabis.

Kyle Lyons, 20, of Sperling Drive, Haverhill, appeared in Cambridge Crown Court last Friday to face five counts of possessing prohibited weapons.

Sara Walker, prosecuting, said: "On September 20 last year, Mr Lyons was found in possession of 12 stun guns and a spray.

"On April 6 this year he had 31 stun guns, pepper spray and cannabis."

Lyons pleaded guilty to all charges.

Richard Kelly, defending, said: "Mr Lyons appreciates the gravity of his situation and I ask for a psychological and pre-sentence report to be carried out before sentencing."

Judge Hawkesworth said: "This is obviously a serious matter and we need to know what motivated you to behave in the way you have."

Lyons will be sentenced in the week beginning October 3.

He was granted bail on the condition that he co-operates with the compiling of both reports and that he continues to live in Haverhill.

Drivers recovering after 4-car smash

TWO women in their 60s are still being treated in Addenbrooke's Hospital following a serious four-car collision on the northbound carriageway of the A1307 near Linton last Friday.

The drivers of a Zafira and a Fiat car involved, a 60-year-old woman from Haverhill and a 65-year-old woman from Sawston, remain in a stable condition.

Police are appealing for witnesses to the collision, which also involved a Ford Mondeo and a Ford Focus and happened just after 11am.

PC Stuart Appleton said: "We would like to hear from anyone who saw the collision or any of the vehicles prior to the incident." Anyone with information should call him on 0345 4564564.

Where are you, Boo?

Sir, I live in Ladygate in Haverhill. I have a cat named Boo. She has been missing for two weeks now and I am worried that someone is keeping her in their house or feeding her. She is 11 years old and I think she may be forgetting how to get home. She does not wear a collar as she is chipped and as she is a roamer I prefer not to put a collar on her in case it gets caught up and hurts her. I have attached a photo of her so if you recognise her please contact me and let me know. I have two very worried children and I also miss her as she is a very nice pet. Any sightings, please phone 01440 763921.

Walking dog no longer a pleasure

Sir, regarding 'Labrador goes on the attack' (Weekly News, August 18) I can really sympathise with the lady concerned and I hope she has recovered from the attack. Walking my dog is no longer the pleasure it should be and that is because far too many people allow their dogs to run free in public places. You are half afraid to say anything these days and all you usually get from the owner is 'my dog won't hurt you' – I'm supposed to know that, am I? I am afraid of any dog (off lead) potentially hurting (or worse) my dog or myself. It is time notices were put up reminding owners that dogs should be on a lead in public places, and while the subject of dogs is in the paper – maybe some more dog waste bins should be put up around the town!

Last week's Memories photo, from our archives, prompted this response from Rebecca Pilbrow, 31, from Haverhill: "I remember this photo and I remember the moment it was taken. It was the Haverhill Team Ministry's production of The Lion, the Witch and the Wardrobe directed by the Reverend Sian

Yates. This photo was taken in April 1990 when I was just nine years old. In this photo I am sitting on the far right in the middle squinting, my younger brother Daniel behind me, as well as Rebecca Thomas, Ben Thomas, Sarah Dilloway, Philip Charlwood, Peter Charlwood, Corinne Pearson, Catrina

Ede, Alex Clowes, Duncan Leech, Katie Haig and James Longland with Andrew Haig in the centre as Aslan. "I hope other people remember this too – those were good times."

Playground gates leave kids injured

Your say online

STORY: Playground gates leave kids injured, Weekly News, August 18

My children play at the Chapelwint park regularly and these gates are perfectly safe. I see unsupervised children swinging on them or slamming them into each other! This is how the accidents are happening!

Comment by Michelle Fisher

I really hope they do not take the gates down. I think many mums would be very worried having an un-gated play area very close to the road. If children used the gates correctly then there would not be a problem.

Comment by Lisa Baker

Don't want the gates to be taken down, maybe some sort of padding on them.

Book charts farm history

FARMING memories from the 1930s and 40s are included in a new book being sold to raise funds for St Nicholas Hospice Care.

Jim Mott's memoir, Alpheton Hall, Diary of a Suffolk Countryman goes on sale in all the charity's shops from mid-September.

Jim, 85, worked at farms in West Suffolk from the age of 13. His book covers the first 20 years of his life, from a rural childhood between the wars to a time of immense change in agriculture.

The book will be launched on Sunday, September 11 at the St Nicholas Hospice Care's Classic and Sports Cars Day at Hall Farm, Fornham St Martin, near Bury St Edmunds, costing £7.99 (£10 by post). To order by post, see www.stnicholas.hospice.org.uk.

Thieves take tools haul

TOOLS and other items were taken by thieves who broke into three vehicles over two nights.

On Friday, August 18 between 1am and 6am in Bures Court, Haverhill, raiders forced entry to a white Ford Transit van and took a radio.

Between 6pm on Thursday, August 18 and 7.45am on Friday, in Holbrook Road, Haverhill, offenders forced the rear door of a silver Ford Ranger and took power tools and a ladder.

Between 5pm on Thursday and 7am on Friday, in Bute Court, Haverhill, a Citroen Berlingo van parked on a driveway was entered by damaging the door lock, with tools and a Martindale multi-function tester taken.

Anyone who was in the area at the time, who saw anything suspicious or who knows who is responsible, should contact police on (01284) 774100 or Crimestoppers on 0800 555 111.

House plan is submitted

PLANS to demolish existing house and build a new one have been submitted to planners.

The application to St Edmundsbury Borough Council for Oak View, Taylors Farm Road, Kedington, also includes building a cart lodge and alterations to the vehicular access.

Drew's a hit in The Ritz kitchen

BY JO DEEKS

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

CATERING student Drew Hunt made such a good impression during a prestigious work experience placement at The Ritz in London that he was invited to stay on for another two weeks.

Drew, 16, of Wixoe, is a keen catering student at Castle Manor Business and Enterprise College in Haverhill. He decided to make good use of his long summer holiday following his GCSE exams in June and showed initiative by contacting several London restaurants directly – and was offered an initial two weeks at The Ritz in July.

During his time there, Drew, pictured, worked in the pastry kitchen, completing a range of tasks such as making cakes for the famous Ritz afternoon tea – often making 400 meringues in a morning.

Drew enjoyed his time and impressed the chefs at The Ritz so much that they accepted him for an additional two weeks' experience.

During this second stint Drew was involved in making the very special Ritz Christmas puddings.

Drew said: "Every day presented a new task, ranging from making macaroons to Christmas puddings. Each task taught a new skill. My range of skills has developed massively in the past four weeks and this is without doubt the best experience I have ever had."

Drew travelled in to London daily by train and Tube and spent very long days in the kitchen.

Castle Manor Deputy principal Vanessa Blackwell said: "Drew is a talented and determined young man and we are very proud of him for being so enterprising and putting himself out there."

"We look forward to watching his career in the kitchen develop even further."

Best-ever A-level results celebrated

BY JO DEEKS

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

BEST-ever A-level results have been reported at both of Haverhill's upper schools this year.

Samuel Ward Academy students achieved a 99 per cent overall pass rate, with 75 per cent at A-C grades. At Castle Manor Business and Enterprise College there was a 93 per cent overall pass rate, with 63 per cent of students achieving A-C grades.

Castle Manor Principal Madeleine Vigar said: "These examination results are excellent. Students and staff have worked tirelessly to ensure success. These superb A-level grades prove that with hard work and commitment and well-structured learning experiences, young people achieve excellence."

Mark McCullough, deputy head teacher at Samuel Ward, said: "These are just truly brilliant results, our best ever, and illustrate just what an outstanding school we are. Value-added performance will show that we are once again one of the top performing schools in Suffolk. It is extremely important to thank all our staff, students and parents for these results. It is a brilliant day for Haverhill, Clare, Kedington and the surrounding area. They are phenomenal results and we are confident that our students will take up places at the universities of their choice."

Top performers at Samuel Ward include Chris Parmee, left, of Stansfield, who gained two A* and three A grades to secure a place to study physics at Robinson College, Cambridge. Identical twins Rebecca and Sarah Mace from Haverhill are off study maths together at Loughborough University after both achieving similar high grades.

Both have taken GCSEs and A-levels a year early. Samuel Ward Academy deputy head teacher Mark McCullough said they had spent the past year 'taking exams for fun'. Sarah got an A and B at AS Level, then one A*, two As and one B. Rebecca got two As at AS level, plus two A*, an A and a B.

Rebecca said: "It is annoying when people keep comparing us with each other. We did not choose to do the same subjects - we are just both good at the same things." Sarah said: "I like what I am good at. Other people say it is really hard, but for me it is fun. I would find things like art and sports science really hard."

At Castle Manor, Holly Baker, 18, from Burton End, Haverhill, got an A*, an A and a B to secure her place to study philosophy at Kent University. Holly said: "I am really pleased. I always enjoy my lessons, so it wasn't a massive hardship."

Andrew White, 18, of Cambridge Way, Haverhill, got four Bs and hopes he has secured his place at Leeds University to study history and philosophy.

Other Castle Manor students who achieved outstanding results including A* grades were Emily Cummings, Jade Sharp, Tom Stewart and Chelsea Smith. At Samuel Ward, successful students included Jack Farrant, James Battye, Alice Atkins, Hannah and Emily Wallis, Faye Battye, Ellie Gurr and Jacob Willmore.

Mum Mandy tells of her 22 cardiac arrests in four hours

WAKING with a start, Mandy

Hague felt an excruciating pain pierce her body. Unable to move, the 34-year-old was in absolute agony.

Though she didn't know it, the mum-of-two was about to have a major heart attack; over the next four hours, she suffered a terrifying 22 cardiac arrests.

"It sounds ridiculous, but it felt like someone had got a huge sword and driven it right through me and into the mattress. The pain was indescribable: it was literally pinning me to the bed," remembers Mandy.

"It was about 1am. I managed to nudge Ian, my husband, and wake him. He took one look at me – apparently I was grey and dripping with sweat – and phoned an ambulance."

BY ALICE RYAN

Email: editorial@saffronvalleynews.co.uk

The last thing Mandy remembers is descending the stairs and being helped aboard the ambulance; after that, it's all a blur.

"The only thing I can recall is coming to at one point and asking where my slippers were: I'd only just bought them and they got lost somewhere along the line," laughs Mandy.

"But, seriously, I look back and feel incredibly lucky to have made it – and eternally grateful to the medical staff who saved me. I flatlined 22 times and they never gave up on me; they resuscitated me every time. If it wasn't for them, I wouldn't be here."

It is almost 10 years since Mandy's heart attack and, to mark the milestone, the 44-year-old is planning a celebration: a day-long fundraiser at the Melbourn craft store she runs with elder daughter Kirsty.

Called Make 'n' Mend, the event has a vintage theme, promising everything from craft demonstrations (lace making, tatting, crochet) and a thrift stall (selling second-hand craft supplies) to a knit-off contest and a 'make and take' jewellery workshop for children.

Taking place on Saturday, all proceeds will be split between the British Heart Foundation and the cardiac unit at Papworth Hospital, where Mandy ended up having surgery.

"We try to raise some money every year – it's our way of saying thank you – but this time we wanted to do something special, to celebrate the fact we're a decade on and I'm still going strong," says Mandy.

"If you looked at my medical notes, you'd know there was something wrong; to meet me, you wouldn't know."

"In fact, my family and friends are always telling me off for doing too much: they say I'm like a hamster in a wheel – I just keep on going!"

Mandy fell ill about six months before the heart attack. Then a self-employed painter and decorator, she was also busy being mum to her daughters, Kirsty, then 14, and Bronte, then 9.

"About six months earlier I started feeling really tired, a different kind of tired to normal," she explains. "And then,

Going strong: Mandy Hague.

Picture: Keith Jones 761923

about three months before, I began to get these really bad pains in my forearms. To start with, the doctor thought it might be repetitive strain, because of my work.

"It reached the point where the pain was so bad, I couldn't actually work any more."

Despite a barrage of tests – including scanning both her heart and lungs – medics drew a blank. And all the time, Mandy was feeling worse and worse.

"I couldn't even walk Bronte to school: I'd stand at the front door and wait for someone I knew to walk by, so I could ask them to take her."

"I was so tired and weak. And the pain in my arms would get so bad I'd just have to lie down."

There is no history of heart disease in Mandy's family and, being both young and physically fit, nobody suspected cardiac problems.

"I didn't have chest pain or breathlessness, which you normally associate with heart attack victims," she says. "So when I did have the heart attack, it was a real shock."

Kirsty, now 24, says: "The main thing I remember from that night was mum saying 'Kirsty! Kirsty! Get me some jogging bottoms!' She was only in her nightie, and she was adamant she wasn't going to hospital like that.

"She actually walked down the stairs and into the garden, but we think she must have had the heart attack as soon as she got into the ambulance: they shut the doors and then didn't drive off for ages."

While the girls were looked after by their grandparents, Ian followed the ambulance in his own car. By the time he reached Addenbrooke's, Mandy was in the crash unit – where she kept going into cardiac arrest, and was revived 22 times.

"When we were first allowed to see Mum, I remember her chest was all burnt from the shock pads," Kirsty recalls.

Mandy says: "The weird thing was, when I came round I actually felt brilliant – better than I had for ages."

"You didn't look brilliant though," adds Bronte, 19. "You were grey and you had these huge black circles round your eyes..."

As soon as Mandy was stable, she was transferred to Papworth, where cardiac experts performed emergency surgery. It transpired the heart attack – and subsequent arrests – had been caused by blockages in three main blood vessels, so the surgeons inserted a trio of stents to reopen them.

"Not only did Dad get a speeding ticket when he went to the hospital the first time, when he took us to visit we had a crash and the car was written off," says Kirsty. "We stalled at a junction and another car came straight into us; we were spun round 360 degrees."

"Dad made us promise not to tell Mum what had happened, but she took one look at our white faces and knew something serious was up."

"Honestly, it was one thing after the other. We then went home to get some of Mum's things and found that one of our dogs, a Staffie, had literally eaten the house while we'd been gone. He'd put away 15 fairy cakes, ripped the sofa to bits, chewed up the kettle – actually chewed the metal..."

After six days in hospital, Mandy was allowed home. Doctors warned she would feel very weak – and that it might take a year for her health to recover.

"That's how long it did take, to be honest," she says. "I had to use a mobility scooter for quite a long time. I didn't like it much – I'm such an active person – but it was a necessity."

In the wake of her op, performed in the November of 2001, Mandy developed palpitations so severe they shook her whole body. "I couldn't even hold a cup of tea: I'd sit there and my whole body was going 'boomp, boomp'."

More surgery – to sear apparently over-active nodes in her heart – followed. Little by little, Mandy's strength began to return. And then, almost exactly a year after her heart attack, the horribly familiar pains returned to her forearms.

"We were almost out the door on the way to school," remembers Bronte. "Mum suddenly sat down on the sofa and said 'Call an ambulance', which I did. It turned out to be an angina attack, but it was really scary."

"For a long time after that, I didn't want to leave Mum's side at all, not even to go to school. It's only recently, almost 10 years on, that I've been OK about staying away from her overnight."

On various medications, Mandy's condition finally improved and she was able to return to work. Always very artistic, she began painting collectable soldiers at home, then went on to get a full-time job at a craft outlet. Her mum and both the girls also got jobs with the same company.

"We were all made redundant on Christmas Eve 2004, by fax," explains Kirsty. "I have never wanted to hurt a fax machine so much... As you can imagine, that was a joyful Christmas."

And, as soon as Mandy got better, Ian suffered a major seizure and was diagnosed with epilepsy, possibly the legacy of a motorbike accident he had as a youngster.

"So many things have happened to us," says Kirsty. "But we're not the kind of family to dwell on things or get down – you'd never get anywhere like that."

Mandy now runs Craft Corner at Melbourn's Phillimore Garden Centre with Kirsty and the pair say business is booming. Selling all kinds of craft materials – from paper, card and stamps, to beads, ribbons, wool and quilting fabrics – they have a loyal and fast-growing clientele.

"People have already been so supportive of our Make 'n' Mend event, making things for us to raffle and that kind of thing," Mandy says. "We're hoping to raise at least £200, £100 for each of the good causes."

"I know I've been ill, but I don't focus on that. I focus on how lucky I am and how many good things I have in my life: I think that's the best way to be."

Police in speeding purge

SPEEDING motorists are being targeted by police in Suffolk during a week-long enforcement campaign.

The campaign to target motorists who risk lives by speeding is led by TISPOL, the European Traffic Police Network.

The initiative began on Monday and will finish on Sunday, with an increased number of checks and enforcement across the county.

Speeding is one of the "Fatal Four" driving offences alongside drink-driving, using a mobile phone and seatbelt offences. Last year, 20 people died on Suffolk's roads and in six of these incidents speeding was identified as being a contributory factor.

In 2009, speeding was a contributing factor in half of road deaths in the county.

Reducing the number of people killed or seriously injured on Suffolk's roads is a priority for Suffolk police.

Officers are aiming to highlight dangers of speeding and the consequences that driving above the limit can have through education and enforcement, meaning motorists are more likely than ever to be caught when driving at excessive speeds.

BY JO DEEKS

Email: editor@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

Motorists caught speeding will face a £60 fixed penalty notice and three points on their licence.

Certain offences could see drivers taken to court where they may face larger fines and disqualification from driving.

Chf Insp Adrian Dawson, head of roads policing for Suffolk, said: "Driving at excessive speeds is a contributing factor in a large number of road traffic collisions, and people who speed need to realise that they are not only putting their lives at risk but also the lives of other road users."

"You can greatly reduce the chances of doing serious harm if you are travelling at the speed limit designated for the road you're travelling on."

"Reducing speeding in the county remains a priority throughout the year, and through both education and enforcement we will continue to target motorists who feel they are above the law and put others at risk."

Flower lovers show off their skills

BUMPER numbers of visitors and exhibitors from as far away as Ipswich and Stowmarket helped make an annual floral art competition a great success.

Cllr Maureen Byrne, Haverhill mayor, and deputy mayor of St Edmundsbury Cllr Terence Buckle joined forces to officially open the Haverhill and District Flower Club's seventh annual show at the town's arts centre.

Entries were reduced from 42 to 35 at the last minute after club secretary Valerie Phillips cracked a rib and was forced to pull out of some categories, while two other members also withdrew. A total of 21 exhibitors took part, including entries from Saffron Walden and Cambridge.

Best in show winner was Pat Hammond of Haverhill, with Valerie Phillips runner-up despite her injury.

The Barbara Webb trophy for the best use of garden plant material went to Pat Stammers from Holbrook Flower Club near Ipswich, who also won the Audley End cup for the best use of colour.

Rosemary Benge of Haverhill won the Bower Hall Shield for the best exhibit by a newcomer, after joining evening classes and entering for the first time this year. Valerie said: "It went very well and everyone was very impressed.

"The judge commented that the standard was very good and the show very professional. She loved everything about it, the staging, and the whole thing."

"It did look really lovely when I went in on Friday morning and we were very pleased with it. There was a non-stop stream of visitors, especially on the Saturday."

"We were very busy – it far exceeded previous years." Anyone interested in joining evening classes, which begin in September, should contact Sheila Gray on (01440) 704062.

Haverhill Rugby Club's New Season 2011 - 2012

All set for a full-on season

Haverhill Rugby Club: The club is confident that this season it will move forward in division one of the Suffolk Merit Table.

SPORTS fans can rejoice, as a local rugby team gears up for success in the new season.

After the disappointing end to last season's adventure in Eastern Counties 1, Haverhill will be going back to basics for 2011-12.

The 1st XV will be playing in division one of the Suffolk Merit Table, as they build a new side – the core of the 2010 promotion winning team will be strengthened by some new recruits and the integration of the first graduates from the club's youth section.

With pre-season training numbers at the best level for many years Haverhill are also confident that the 2nd XV can compete well in Suffolk Merit Table division two. A management team of "old heads" will oversee the bleeding of the next crop of young players as they step up to senior rugby.

As with last year, both senior sides have almost full fixture lists before the season begins.

The youth section expects to field sides in three age groups again this season, and hopes are high that a partnership with Castle Manor will enable other sides to be added over the course of the season.

The club also has a junior section for ages six to 12 and the aim of offering rugby in Haverhill from six to adult is now close to reality.

The ladies' section has continued training right through the summer and is looking to recruit new players for the non-contact form of the game to build on their trophy-winning exploits at this summer's beach rugby tournaments.

Last season's head coach has been replaced by a coaching team under the guidance of Tony Hope, with the aim of developing a number of new coaches that can grow with the teams as the build back to full League Rugby in the next few seasons.

Youth training: Wednesday/Sunday.

Haverhill are always looking to recruit new players – all ages and abilities welcome! So if you've played rugby before or even if you just fancy giving it a go, training for the different sections is as follows:

SENIORS – Tuesday evenings
YOUTH – Wednesday evenings and Sunday mornings
JUNIOR – Sunday mornings
LADIES – Saturday mornings (non-contact Tag Rugby)

Anyone interested in playing rugby, joining as a social member or hiring the hall for a function can contact the club for more detailed information at www.haverhillrfc.co.uk or by calling (01440) 702871 or 07734 795401.

Tee-vee: Club president Chris Briggs presents Malcolm Smith with the first prize in the raffle, donated by Chapman & Son.

Cash goes a fair way

CASH is still coming in from a charity golf tournament in June which is expected to generate more than £5,500.

The weather was fine for this year's Haverhill Charity Classic Golf Day, organised in association with the Haverhill Weekly News, and all those who took part entered into the spirit of the day and gave generously.

Chairman of the organising committee Chris Briggs said: "We are still collecting the money, but early indications are that we have raised, on the day, in excess of £5,500, which takes the total raised to date to more than £130,000.

Our thanks go to the committee and members of Haverhill Golf Club for their continued support and to the main sponsors of MPG Printwise, Saffron Insurance and Farewell my Pet for their invaluable contribution, without which the day would not have been the success that it was.

"Our thanks also go to Chapman & Son, who again donated a flat-screen television for the first prize in the raffle."

The Charity Classic Committee has decided that this year's funds will buy a defibrillator costing £1,000, complete with training in its use for the golf club, with the balance being split equally between St Nicholas Hospice and Haverhill Rotary Club.

Council is hit in pocket over building firm probe

COUNCIL tax-payers have been left facing a £43,000 bill over illegal work on a listed building carried out by a company which has gone into liquidation.

Ipswich Crown Court heard on Monday that Springbarn Developments Ltd of Great Bradley, which two years ago was turning over £1 million a year, had gone into liquidation in June owing far more than the value of its assets.

The company was prosecuted in relation to work on a grade II-listed former farm building at The Stables, Gulling Green, near Bury St Edmunds, which between September and November 2009 was being converted into a house. St Edmundsbury Borough Council spent £35,000 on investigating and a further £8,000 in legal fees in connection with the case.

Despite hearing of the company's liquidation, Judge Peter Thompson said he was obliged to impose a fine and order the payment of costs to the council, even though there was no prospect of a single penny ever being paid. He imposed a £5,000 fine, plus £10,000 towards costs.

Hugh Rowlands, prosecuting, said that the cow shed was a "rare survivor" among buildings of its kind and while dating from around 1800, included medieval and Tudor timbers from a former farmhouse that once stood on the site. Ancient timbers had been removed, disposed of and replaced with new wood, using joints that were not in keeping with the age of the structure.

Directors of Springbarn claimed that they had only been following instructions from the architect overseeing the project. The company pleaded guilty to carrying out unauthorised work on a listed building, but was not represented in court.

Daredevil Pam's got her head in the clouds

High time: Pam Chappell soars through the wide blue yonder. CP

DAREDEVIL pensioner Pam Chappell leapt from a plane to raise funds for her local hospice.

Pam, of Clare, took the leap in a tandem skydive after she was given the jump by her sons for her 60th birthday in March.

Pam, who raised £687 for St Nicholas Hospice, said: "I asked for donations instead of gifts at my 60th birthday party and when I brought in that money I mentioned the skydive, and was encouraged to raise sponsorship for the hospice through that.

"The reason I'm so dedicated to the Hospice is that one of my best and closest friends died here aged 53. She was incredibly brave.

"I thought if she could go through what she went through, I could jump out of a plane.

"The skydive was the best thing I have ever done and I'd do it again tomorrow. I wasn't frightened at all."

Next month, Pam is taking part in the hospice's fundraising Girls Night Out moonlight walk through Bury St Edmunds, when she hopes to raise even more charity cash.

Happy landings: Pam's safe and sound after her trip to earth. CP

Peter the great

PETER Andre's in a good mood because of the warm weather – and is preparing to bring some Aussie sunshine to crowds at a special day to celebrate the 25th anniversary of Newmarket Nights concerts this month.

"I think on a day like today you start buzzing, 'cos it's summer and you feel good, and you think 'I'd love to be on stage', he says happily

Thanks to his appearance on I'm A Celebrity... Get Me Out Of Here, his various fly-on-the-wall documentaries, and his seemingly endless magazine spreads, we all feel as if we know Peter Andre personally – from his former marriage to Katie Price to his revamped music career, and of course, his close relationship with his children Junior and Princess, and stepson Harvey.

Currently his offspring are learning Greek, the mother tongue of Andre's parents: "I think it's great, I'm up for them learning many languages, I think it's a great thing for children to do," he says proudly. "My mum and dad came from Australia and they could not believe what the kids knew in Greek."

It's rumoured their mother has enrolled them in Spanish lessons too, to help them communicate with her latest flame, Argentinean Leandro Penna, but Andre is remaining tight-lipped, replying curtly: "I don't know if they're learning Spanish, but they're definitely learning Greek."

The perma-tanned performer frequently tops polls as the nation's favourite celebrity dad, and believes the secret to good parenting is simple: "Putting your kids first makes you a good dad; there's no better explanation. If you put your kids first and that means you're selfless and you're not being selfish, then you're a good parent."

Is there no secret sneaky side to Andre, hidden away from his TV appearances? Apparently not.

"I'm exactly what I am on screen and off screen. I'm exactly the same clumsy person, making really bad jokes.

"Look, I have my down times too, I think everyone does, but I don't really show them, I just keep them to myself."

So, would Andre ever take part in Saturday night hoof-a-thon Strictly Come Dancing?

"You know what, Strictly's the only other show that has interested me. Not Big Brother, nothing like that, but Strictly, yeah. I'd love to do it."

Carr cry from TV hit show

AFTER several years spent rubbing shoulders with A-listers, Chatty Man Alan Carr returns to his comedy roots with a new stand-up show, Spexy Beast, next month. Born in Dorset, Carr's pre-fame years were spent holding down a number of unpromising jobs in Northampton but in 2001 he won the BBC new comedy award for stand-up, followed by a clutch of other accolades for The Friday Night Project.

Now the bespectacled comic with the distinctive giggle is one of the most familiar faces on TV. His own show, Chatty Man, recently landed the coveted Friday night slot. Still, despite his own status, and his many celebrity acquaintances, Carr has confessed that he isn't a fan of the fame game, and is more likely to be papped filling in a crossword at a poolside on holiday than falling out of a nightclub at 5am.

Covering the UK and Ireland, Spexy Beast will be his first major tour in more than four years. "If I were to leave a stand-up tour any longer," he says, "it would start to look like a comeback!"

■ Alan Carr, Cambridge Corn Exchange, September 1 - 2 at 8pm. Tickets are £27.50. Contact (01223) 357851 / www.cornex.co.uk.

Rev up for the sisters of rock

THE Portland Arms, Cambridge, is hosting a rock 'n' roll-fuelled night to raise money and awareness for women's issues in Cambridge.

There will be bands playing, cake to indulge in and activities to take part in – with money going to the Cambridge Womens Resource Centre.

Headlining are UK hardcore group Pettybone, who perform heavy, furious tunes with a political edge. Also up are Beverly Kills, Cambridge's very own punk sensation who draw their influences from the likes of The Ramones and Sleater-Kinney.

Meanwhile, Chapter 24 are sure to get you dancing with their joyous tropical punk sound, and We Rock Like Girls Don't will be proving that it isn't only the guys who can execute big, noisy riffs and killer choruses.

Finally, experimental band Canaveral will be showing us what Cambridge's DIY scene is all about.

■ Lady Garden 4, The Portland Arms, Cambridge, Sunday. Tickets are £6 on the door.

The big film

COWBOYS & ALIENS

certificate 12a 118m

BASED on the graphic novel by Scott Mitchell Rosenberg, Cowboys & Aliens is a roo'tin' tootin' action adventure that melds the western and science fiction with a blitzkrieg of CGI.

It's a curious juxtaposition – pistols and laser guns – and some elements of Jon Favreau's entertaining film don't gel.

While Harrison Ford possesses the weariness of a man who could conceivably have kicked up his spurs in 1870s New Mexico, co-star Daniel Craig swaggers around in figure-hugging leather chaps and a shirt unbuttoned to the navel like James Bond at a fancy dress party.

We're not remotely surprised that he opens the film by disabling three bandits on horseback.

Nor do we bat an eyelid when his character out-canters an alien spaceship along a canyon ridge and leaps from the turbo-charged nag onto the otherworldly craft. Preposterousness aside, Cowboys & Aliens gallops along at a fair lick and director Favreau orchestrates the set pieces with aplomb, keeping our adrenaline pumping as the 19th century heroes use their primitive weapons against hordes of predators.

Jake Lonergan (Craig) wakes in the desert with a gunshot wound, a large metal bracelet on his wrist and no memory of what went before. He struts into town and is unmasked as a killer with a sizeable bounty on his head.

Arrested and bound for prison alongside Percy Dolarhyde (Paul Dano), Jake makes his escape from the prison coach during a devastating attack by extraterrestrial craft.

Percy is abducted and the boy's powerful father, Woodrow (Harrison Ford), vows to rescue his son. He press gangs Jake into accompanying his posse. Beautiful cowgirl Ella Swenson (Olivia Wilde), publican Doc (Sam Rockwell) and a fatherless boy called Emmett (Noah Taylor) join the hunt for the aliens.

Craig exudes the same amount of charisma as the wooden scenery but he is a brooding presence and the camera sensibly focuses on his chest and posterior.

Ford provides fleeting comic relief and also pockets the film's best emotional scene, sharing a tender moment with a Native American in his posse.

Wilde's feisty femme is unable to generate any sexual chemistry with Craig, so she is gifted a pivotal role in the final showdown.

Lining up seaside specials

GOING to the seaside is such an uplifting experience, with the huge expanses of blue water, sandy beaches and open-air pursuits.

Many people return home with dreams of living on the coast, but for gardeners it can bring a glut of problems, thanks to sea spray and strong winds.

Windbreaks are essential, along with a variety of plants which will withstand the constant salt spray, sandy soils and drying wind.

Yet if you choose carefully, your coastal garden can come into its own in summer, taking advantage of the fact that you're unlikely to suffer the frosts of inland regions, thanks to the sea's moderating influence on temperature.

The seaside garden can be a place for bright, loud colour – whites, sizzling oranges, vivid cerises and shocking pinks. Calendulas, eschscholzas, mesembryanthemums and other annuals grow vigorously and seed freely in gravel. Use materials which match

by Hannah Stephenson

the setting – pebbles, driftwood, shells are all ideal partners for plants which can take a coastal hammering.

Coastal gardens don't have much green but tend to concentrate on different shapes and textures. Foliage is usually silver, grey and blue, which contrasts well with zingy flower colours. Agaves and other exotic looking plants can do well in pots in the mild climate of seaside gardens.

There are many plants which are tough enough to withstand all that salt spray and sea breeze can throw at them, but as a rule of thumb you will find that those with tough, leathery leaves as well as spiny and hairy plants should have more resistance to drying winds.

TOAST OF THE COAST?
The seaside garden can be a place for bright, loud colour – whites, sizzling oranges, vivid cerises and shocking pinks.

Silver foliage shrubs and perennials such as the sun-loving Lavandula angustifolia, Brachyglottis 'Sunshine' and Helichrysum italicum provide soft, silver mounds of foliage and can be trimmed back after flowering in summer and again in early spring to keep them in shape.

Rosemary and sage also look good with silver foliage perennials in the seaside garden, while cistus and helianthemums do well if sheltered from salt winds. Patio pots are best filled with drought-resistant sun-lovers such as pelargoniums and gazanias in bold colours.

The first job is to make an effective windbreak, preferably from a natural source, such as a hedge or wind-filtering barrier of trees or shrubs which are of good depth, preferably planted in two or more staggered rows. Good species for this job include pine, alder, hawthorn and hornbeam.

Elacagnus x ebbingei, an evergreen with dark green leaves with silver undersides, will grow quickly to 3m (10ft), providing a substantial windbreak grown as a hedge or free-growing shrub.

Escallonia is also fantastic shrubs for seaside gardens, with their attractive white, pink or red flowers produced from late spring to early autumn.

Alternatively, you could go for a fence-like windbreak such as woven wattle or willow hurdles, which are available from garden centres or local craftsmen. Have a look in the classified sections of any of the gardening magazines and you should find what you want. Once you have a sheltered garden, that widens the choice of plants you will be able to grow there.

Before you start, test your soil. Many seaside gardens are high in alkaline because of the high calcium content of crushed sea shells. If you have alkaline soil, don't plant lime-haters such as rhododendron or azalea, because they won't do well.

If your soil is sandy, beef it up with some organic matter to retain moisture and add nutrients. Once you have done this, mulch the area with compost or chipped bark to keep in the moisture.

Walk around the area and make a note of the plants which are thriving in neighbouring gardens, so you know what would do well in yours.

Plants which may be suitable for your seaside garden include eryngium (sea holly), echinops (globe thistle), crocsmia, sedum and heuchera, with a mix of shrubs and climbers including buddleia, berberis, broom, ceanothus, escallonia, hebe, weigela and lavatera.

Make the most of rock plants such as Armeria maritima, aubrieta, dianthus alpinus, phlox subulata, stachys and Iris pumila.

New Defender upholds the faith

Iconic Land Rover gets 2.2-litre diesel

A NEW EU5 2.2-litre diesel engine replaces the EU4 2.4-litre diesel for 2011, bringing greater levels of performance and refinement to the 2012 Defender.

The smaller capacity engine delivers the same power, torque and economy as its outgoing unit but makes this the cleanest Land Rover Defender yet produced. In EU5 markets, the new engine comes with a diesel particulate filter (DPF) to ensure the lowest possible levels of regulated emissions.

The Defender can trace its roots back to 1948 and during that period Land Rovers have earned a reputation as the most rugged and versatile off-road vehicles in the world. Since the current model's introduction in 2007, the Defender has consistently sold an average of 25,000 units a year worldwide. Retail and utility customers, armed forces and NGOs in more than 100 countries believe that the Defender's off-road ability, durability and towing capability are head and shoulders above the competition. The legendary vehicle commands exceptionally high standards of customer loyalty.

"With the introduction of the new 2.2-litre diesel engine and two option packs, the Defender for 2012 now offers greater customer choice than ever before," said John Edwards, Land Rover global brand director.

The new EU5 2.2-litre diesel engine replaces the EU4 2.4-litre diesel while matching it for power, torque and fuel consumption. A new, full acoustic engine cover replaces the previous splash cover, reducing radiated engine noise and improving driving refinement. Meeting EU5 regulations, the engine delivers lower levels of the regulated emissions, NOx, CO and HC thanks to an improved combustion system and sophisticated engine management system. In EU5 markets, particulate matter has been reduced to EU5 levels with a diesel particulate filter (DPF).

Despite the smaller capacity and reduced emissions, the new engine produces the same power, 120bhp@3,500rpm and torque of 360Nm @2,000rpm, as the outgoing 2.4-litre engine. Performance remains similar too, though the top speed has been raised to 90mph (compared to 82mph). CO2 emissions on the combined cycle are consistent at 266g/km for the 90 and 295g/km for the 110/130.

The GFT MT 82 six-speed gearbox has been retained for 2012 with its excellent ratio spread, high top gear for cruising and enhanced low-speed crawl capability. A powerful heating and ventilation system is designed to cope with the most extreme climates.

The 2012 Defender is available from £20,995 and will be on sale in November. For details visit Marshall Land Rover or go to www.landrover.co.uk.

The Hyundai i20 Blue: 1.4-litre diesel option priced at £13,195.

98g/km Hyundai i20 Blue on sale

FOLLOWING on from the successful i10 Blue launched at the beginning of the year, Hyundai has now added another sub-100g/km CO2 model to its range – the i20 Blue.

With emissions of just 98g/km CO2, it is the lowest emitting Hyundai in the UK line-up.

The i20 Blue is based on the current i20 Comfort trim level mated to the 1.4 CRDi 89bhp engine and costs £13,195.

To achieve the sub-100g/km CO2 figures, the i20 Blue has the following Blue Drive technologies: Intelligent Stop & Go (ISG), low rolling resistance tyres, rear suspension under cover and rear wheel deflector. With these features comes a 12 per cent reduction in CO2 emissions (compared with the current 1.4 CRDi 90PS Style i20) from 111g/km down to 98g/km.

The 1.4 CRDi Euro V compliant four-cylinder engine achieves a remarkable 76.4mpg combined – a 14 per cent improvement on a combined cycle when compared to the i20 1.4 CRDi 88bhp Style model.

Goodwood conjures awesome car thrills

WITH the second major Goodwood event of the season due to take place from September 15-18, every car, bike and Spitfire fan can be assured of another superb helping of classic fun at the Sussex venue, writes Peter Crispin.

Forget Dr Who, the Goodwood Revival really is a chance to travel back in time and attendees are encouraged to dress in the period of their choice – be it the Roaring Forties or the Swinging Sixties, this is a chance for mum and the kids, as well as dad, to dress up and party to the backdrop of sights and sounds of yesteryear at one of the world's most authentic circuits from the period.

The facilities at Goodwood are superb and even the catering will be themed to include only Fifties fare and the like. And don't think people were slumming it back then – go along in September to taste and see that Classics are good!

Goodwood, which was Britain's first post-war permanent motorsport circuit, is still wowing the crowds today with a mixture of style, excitement and, at the annual Festival of Speed that takes place every June, there's cutting-edge technology on display too.

Two things that Britain does well are nostalgia and motor racing, so a powerful cocktail of both, set in stunning scenery like the Goodwood estate, has to be a winning combination and it is – in spades. If you have any interest in motorsport, two-wheeled or four, or even in aviation, you need to go at least once to the two amazing Goodwood spectacles held every June and September.

Unlike any car or bike museum though, which always seem eerily silent and lifeless no matter how well the exhibits are displayed, the cars and bikes at Goodwood are noisy – fire and smoke-breathing living creatures. This is what sets Goodwood apart and secures the reputation of its two events as the world's greatest celebration of motor racing history and culture.

The first is always the Festival of Speed, which takes place the week before the British Grand Prix, thereby ensuring the participation of most Formula 1 teams and drivers.

Wowing the crowds: The Goodwood estate is well worth a visit. Here, the £500,000 Eagle Speedster, based on an E-Type, as seen on Top Gear.

This year's Festival, which took place last month, was the final event of the 2011 National Motorsport Week and the attendees read like a Who's Who of motorsport with the last four British Formula 1 champions – Nigel Mansell, Damon Hill, Lewis Hamilton and of course Jenson Button – all present. There were also the most recent winners of the Indianapolis 500 race in the US and myriad legendary names from the past including John Surtees and Stirling Moss. The Festival focuses on timed runs up the famous 1.16 mile Goodwood hillclimb by everything from early Grand Prix and endurance machines, to off-road and contemporary racers and racing motorcycles. Almost every motor sport discipline is honoured and can be seen in action.

The theme for 2011 was

'Racing Revolutions', celebrating some key advances in the ceaseless quest for increased power, efficiency and speed. 2011 marks 75 years since Auto Union won the European Championship with a ground-breaking rear-engined car – the pattern followed by all F1 cars today. It's also 30 years since the Audi Quattro heralded rallying's four-wheel-drive age and the McLaren MP4/1 introduced the first F1 carbon-fibre chassis, and 20 years since a rotary-engined Mazda took the chequered flag at Le Mans. All of those legendary cars were there, along with other landmark designs and many of the people – both designers and drivers – who took these innovations from drawing board to chequered flag.

Unlike any modern-day F1 event though, at Goodwood you can stroll through the pits and get as close as you want to the cars and mechanics. This is hugely more interesting than sitting in an expensive grandstand seat, staring with binoculars across a wide track and pit lane – and that's if you're lucky and have paid for the privilege.

Goodwood is about far more than just cars though, and there was a full array of motorcycles due to the 100th anniversary of the Isle of Man TT Mountain Course. Even children are catered for, with BMX and trials bike stunt events and a chance for hands-on experience in simulators.

Nor is it all about racing – the Cartier 'Style et Luxe' exhibits comprising some of the most immaculately turned-out exotic cars and styling exercises ever to grace an exhibition field. This year DJ Chris Evans showed his 'Magnificent Seven' Ferraris, but there were boat-tailed veterans, crazy concept cars and oddities such as the astonishing 1933 Dymaxion. Of the 175,000-odd visitors to wander through Goodwood's grounds during the Festival, I wouldn't mind betting a fair number thought this three-wheeled, 11-seater 'aeroplane without wings' was the wackiest vehicle on display, but in the end the honours for overall best car went to a 1951 Ferrari – more's the pity.

But apart from the Festival, the forthcoming Revival is truly a family-friendly event centred on the Goodwood race circuit rather than the hillclimb. It's a great weekend so you've got three days to choose from and it comprises a more typical programme of races designed to pit groups of cars from every decade since the 30s against each other. No modern cars are permitted inside the circuit for the duration, and period dress is encouraged. This helps give the event a true 'time-warped' feel and even the music is Fifties-themed. Part fancy dress, part car race, part film set, it's truly a unique event.

Check out this year's Festival of Speed – you haven't missed it and can still get tickets. It's a great day out for all the family – ticket details are on www.goodwood.com.

Renault extends warranty to 100k miles

RENAULT is about to extend its three-year/100,000-mile warranty to all its cars as of September 1.

Most cars in the Renault range are currently covered by a standard three-year/60,000-mile warranty.

The move comes as Renault unveils its plans to raise quality across the board.

According to data released by Renault, its cars have been steadily climbing the ranks of the various consumer feedback studies, such as the Auto Express Driver Power survey, but aims to go further.

In its newest five-year plan, quality is one of the three main pillars the company will use to try to strengthen its brand image.

The objective for the next generation Laguna is to squeeze into the top three in class quality, alongside premium brands such as Mercedes and Lexus.

Renault: 100,000-mile warranty deal.

How to avoid a breakdown

WITH the good old British weather remaining as unpredictable as ever, lots of families are packing up their cars and driving to Europe's holiday spots for a summer get away.

Wherever you're headed, breakdown cover and road safety organisation, GEM Motoring Assist has important driving tips to make sure you steer clear of confusion over the ever-changing rules and regulations and know exactly what to do should you break down.

Your Introduction to Driving in Europe is a FREE leaflet from GEM, and a great guide for even the most experienced drivers. Voted the number one for breakdown cover again this year, GEM's leaflet features three sections including preparation "Before You Travel", "Country By Country" information, and what to do "If Things Do Go Wrong".

Being prepared is GEM's motto, and with so many things to think about before going away including passports, foreign currency, travel and medical insurance, the guide provides you with simple and clear information on what you need to check before you travel, foreign road laws to be aware of, and also what to do in an accident or breakdown situation.

Top tips to be prepared:

1. A service – it makes sense to have a service before you go, but as a minimum make sure to check the tread on the tyres, oil and water levels
2. Vehicle Registration Document – keep this with you at all times, never leave it in the car
3. Nationality plate – this must be the approved pattern, design and size
4. MOT Certificate – if your car is more than 3 years old, make sure you take this with you
5. Mechanical adjustments – be aware of the headlight requirements, you may need beam deflectors
6. Driving Licence – take both parts of your licence with you, and if you haven't updated your licence do it now as the new style is valid in all EU countries

7. Equipment checklist – make sure you have high visibility jackets for each person, two warning triangles, first aid kit, replacement bulbs and a spare pair of glasses

8. Maps & routes – take a detailed map and plan your journey well in advance.

David Williams, CEO of GEM Motoring Assist, said: "With the holiday season well and truly upon us, we want to stress the importance of being fully prepared when driving abroad. With lots of changing and often confusing laws and road signs, it's crucial to plan ahead and look into the countries you'll be travelling in. Our leaflet, along with the European Traffic Police Network at www.motoringassist.com/Europe provides up-to-date information on driving in every EU country and highlights a number of the unusual rules and regulations you may encounter."

GEM's Top Most Unusual Foreign Road Rules:

1. In Finland, if you hit an elk or deer you must immediately report the collision to the police
2. Both Spanish and Swiss law demands that if you need glasses for driving you must carry a spare pair with you in the car
3. In Sweden, it is compulsory to have dipped headlights on throughout the day and night
4. In Austria, you must not park a caravan within 500m of a lake.

Your CV

When you send your CV off to a potential employer, remember that you won't be the only one. Hundreds of other people could be applying for the job as well.

So what are you going to do to make you stand out from the crowd? Why should an employer take a chance on you instead of someone else?

Your CV is your first real chance to sell yourself to a potential employer. Most employers will scan through a CV in about 30 seconds so you need to grab their attention from the start - and make them want to invite you for an interview.

There are five main areas to consider when writing your CV:

- Make sure your CV looks the part. Your CV should look clean and tidy - don't scrawl it out on a piece of A4 paper. If you haven't got access to a PC or printer, ask a friend or use your local library. Use a good quality paper and steer clear of fancy borders and front covers.
- Watch out for silly spelling and grammar mistakes. They make you look lazy and show employers that you don't really care. It's not difficult to do a spell check on your PC and if you're really stuck then don't just guess, reach for a dictionary. Get a friend to read through your CV for you - a second opinion is always useful.
- Make sure your CV is well organised. When you list your previous jobs, make sure the dates are correct and try not to leave any gaps. If you took time out to go travelling then say so - employers won't mark you down just because you've tried something new.
- Don't waffle. Remember that employers don't have time to read every word of your CV. Long paragraphs and sentences put people off, so try bullet-points to break up text. Make sure your CV is no longer than two pages long - employers don't want your life history, they just want to see that you've got what it takes to do the job.
- Don't list any failures. Employers have enough trouble finding someone who is right for the job - they don't need help finding reasons not to employ you. If you have to include a mistake from your past, make sure you show the employer that you learnt something from the experience.

Keep it simple

Personal details

Start off with your full name, address, date of birth, home and mobile phone numbers, email address and nationality. If you are offered an interview, the employer will want to get hold of you so give him as many options as possible.

Summary/professional profile

This is the No1 area for selling yourself. Set out your main skills and personal qualities but keep it interesting and tight - one paragraph should do to cover everything.

Education and qualifications

List your qualifications and education history, with the most recent first. You don't need to list the grades for each exam you have passed unless they were exceptional results - simply listing the number and type of exams you've passed is fine. Also, list any relevant professional organisations you belong to and training courses you have been on.

Work experience

Start with your most recent position and work backwards, giving addresses along with start and finish dates. Set out your main responsibilities, duties and most importantly achievements, along with any skills you picked up or improvements you made while you were there. This is a really important section in your CV so make it count - but don't waffle.

If you have not had a full-time job before, detail any part-time jobs you may have held or any placement you have been on.

Other skills

Set out any computer skills you may have and the software you are most familiar with. Can you type, do shorthand or speak a foreign language fluently? If you have a driving licence, let the employer know. If it's clean, tell them.

Interests & hobbies

Briefly list what you get up to in your spare time. Put down any positions you hold in clubs or associations, along with any responsibilities and achievements.

References

Make sure you have at least two people (including one from your previous or current job) who will tell an employer what a thoroughly nice person you are and what a potential asset to the company you would be.

If you want to list them now make sure you include their name, job title, postal & e-mail address and contact phone numbers. Alternatively, just put "Available on request" so the employer knows to follow up references at a later date.

Add a covering letter

The main aim of a covering letter is to encourage an employer to give you a chance. You want them to read your CV, so sell it to them. You should always enclose a covering letter when applying for a job - most employers won't consider you unless you do.

A covering letter should let the employer know why you are interested in the job and why you think you can do it.

The hints and tips below should point you in the right direction:

- Keep it simple. A covering letter should be short and to the point - no more than six paragraphs.
- Mention the job. If you are replying to an advert, mention what the job is and where you saw it. The company may be advertising for other positions and it may not be clear which job you are applying for.
- Sell yourself. Explain why you are the perfect candidate for the job. Show off your strengths and experience. Refer to your CV - if it goes missing then at least an employer will know that you've sent it.
- Check it for mistakes. A silly spelling mistake in a covering letter is likely to cost you your chance of getting an interview. Also, make sure it is addressed to the right person in the right department.

A covering letter can be just as important as a CV in getting you an interview. It's your first point of contact with your potential employer - so make it count.

Beynon bags the carp to take the honours

RUPERT Beynon bagged three 11lb-plus carp to take the honours in Haverhill's club match at Cable Pond in Clare.

Combined with two other carp, he weighed in 48lb 1oz from peg 17, all taken using the method feeder close into the island with dead maggots as hook bait.

Dave Pennycook caught silver fish regularly throughout the match, fishing pellet up in the water on the pole to weigh in 21-5.

He made the decision to target the smaller fish after a slow start, but as the day wore on the larger fish started to show and Mike Potter featured an 11-2 specimen in his 17-2 catch which earned him third place. Haverhill's next match is at Home Farm, Little Walden on Sunday. Anyone interested can contact Jason Jeggo on 07962 055307.

■ Chaz Mainland topped the charts in Haverhill AC's annual youth match.

Small mirror carp and tench were landed by the competitors at a private lake, with maggots and float tactics being employed.

Mainland netted 8lb for victory, while second-placed Harry Ashcroft and Billy Bush, who was third, had 3lb 12oz and 2-8 respectively.

Details - 1 Chaz Mainland 8lb, 2 Harry Ashcroft 3lb 12oz, 3 Billy Bush 2-8.

HAVERHILL Rovers under-13s gave themselves a massive boost for their first season in the Eastern Junior Alliance when they took the silverware in the prestigious Wisbech St Mary tournament.

The boys, who have made the transition from Castle Camps, went through the agonies of two penalty shoot-outs before winning their age group.

They went through their seven-team section unbeaten against unknown opposition to set up a semi-final against Group A runners-up, Cromer.

After a pulsating game, which ended 1-1, Rovers held their nerve to win the shoot-out and book a final against Malbourn, a team they had beaten 2-1 in their group game.

Rovers took an early lead but were pegged back and, after five minutes of extra time failed to produce a winner, they headed for another shoot-out.

And although both teams scored and missed from the spot, Rovers held their nerve to seal victory.

West Wrattling's under-15s, sponsored by Affordable Courier Services, reached the semi-finals of their age group after one defeat in their six games, scoring 15 goals against teams from Daventry, Thetford, Houghton, Hampton, Docking and March.

They faced a physical Norwich JEX side, the Group B winners, in the last four and, although they pulled a goal back with a stunning free kick, they conceded another goal and were beaten 3-1.

Wrattling now face games against Finchfield and Bury Town and have two further tournaments before the start of the Cambridge and District Colts League season on September 11.

West Wrattling 12 Long Melford 1 Under-16 friendly WEST Wrattling produced a ruthless display to brush aside Long Melford in their friendly.

James Percy, Harrison Ford and Josh Free all scored hat-tricks with Tom Warnock, Sam Clayton and Mark Coulson completing the scoreline.

And while the forwards were banging in goals at will at one end, a strong defensive performance made sure Long Melford never had much of a look-in.

Mixed reception: Mixed Open winners Beverley Wasp and John Daniels are flanked by ladies' captain Marian Mercer and men's captain Keith Brown at the prize giving. CP

MORE than 100 competitors – some from as far afield as Florida and Georgia – representing 26 clubs turned up at Coupals Road for Haverhill's mixed open.

Those teeing off earliest had the best of the weather but some excellent scores were nevertheless returned with Stowmarket pair John Daniels and Beverley Wasp the overall winners after scoring 44 points.

Prizes. Nearest the pin – ladies, Celia Twigg (Welwyn Garden City), men Brian Runham (Menzies). Best front nine: Brian and Glenys Grove (Hintlesham and Newton Green) 23pts. Best back nine: Chris Williams and Norma Humphrey (22pts).

Overall: 1 John Daniels and Beverley Wasp (Stowmarket) 44pts, 2 Roger and Vilma Krinks (Chelmsford) 43pts, 3 Jim and Lyn Cocksedge (Windermer, Florida) 41pts on count back.

■ Club junior Alice Iron has had her handicap trimmed by three shots after winning two competitions.

She topped the ladies' stableford at Haverhill with 41 points, which saw her handicap lowered by two, and then won a high handicap competition at St Audry's GC, Melton Park with 38 points, bringing a reduction of a further shot. She will now play off 31.

Stableford runner-up Mary Sail, who scored 38pts, also had her handicap trimmed by a shot to 16. Judy Faren was third with 36pts.

■ A record 42 pairs took to the Coupals Road course for the Foxes and Rabbits

Hopes pinned on Frinton win

HAVERHILL are hopeful that beating Frinton at Manor Road on Saturday will go a long way to safeguarding their future in the Marshall Hatchick Two Counties Championship's, first division. Having seen their trip to Wivenhoe washed out as they neared the end of their innings, skipper Simon Youngs was still pleased to collect eight points, particularly as Ipswich, who are just above Haverhill, were also washed out but received one point fewer.

Of more concern to Youngs, though, was his side's batting.

After helping them reach 142 for 6, he said: "Our batting, on the whole, was poor again and that's disappointing."

They slumped from 38 for 1 to 48 for 5 and then 87 for 6 when Youngs (23 not out) and his son Luke (50 not out) came together.

"Luke and myself were going really well and we fancied posting a decent score," said Youngs snr.

"They were just starting to panic in the field but they aren't second in the table for no reason."

Frinton are fourth but Youngs added: "They are going through a poor run, so hopefully we can get the win we need."

■ Haverhill II's bid to get out of Division Six appears to be on the rocks as they, too, were a victim of the weather.

Batting first against Ipswich III, they were 202 for 2 off 39 overs when the match was abandoned after a second stoppage for rain, just as they looked on course for a big score with Greg Street (74 not out) and David Brown (57 not out) forging a 116-run partnership.

More galling for Haverhill was the fact that the three sides above them – Tuddenham, Elmstead Grasshoppers and Felixstowe Corinthians – all won to get 20 points to Haverhill's 11.

■ Haverhill II's unbeaten record in Division Four of the Hunts County Bats Sunday League has been ended. The run came to an end against Mildenhall – the side pushing for second place – with champions Haverhill falling short by just three runs.

Tom Saville took 4 for 35 – three of the wickets coming in his second spell – although Mildenhall were able to build on an expensive start by the home side to finish on 194 for 9.

Jamie Boulton and Ben Wilkins both scored 46, but with 10 overs to go, Haverhill needed to score at nine an over. Anthony Phillips was stumped for a fine 35 and Tom Saville (35 not out) pushed the score along. But Haverhill still needed 35 off the last four overs and did well to get within three runs.

■ Sudbury's overseas professional Fernando proved to be the difference between the two sides as Haverhill's Sunday first team's recent revival was ended.

He appeared disinterested as Haverhill battled to 141 in 36 overs after finding themselves at 90 for 7.

However, a spirited Haverhill attack – fired by Sam Pass, who was on a hat-trick at one point – reduced Sudbury to 72 for 23 off 23 overs.

Enter Fernando and the visitors were beaten in the 35th over, the professional blasting five sixes and four fours in a brutal unbeaten 51.

Fixtures. Saturday – Marshall Hatchick Two Counties Championship, Division One: Haverhill v Frinton (1pm). Division Six: Kesgrave v Haverhill II. Cricket Stick CCA Junior League, Division 6B: Haverhill Wanderers v Saffron Walden V.

Rovers on the rampage

Lightning start puts skids under Ely but Haverhill need half-time blast before rallying in Cup

Dan Cornwell: Three goals in two games

Haverhill Rovers 5
Ely City 1
Ridgeons League, Premier Division

HAVERHILL Rovers took their golden run to nine in two games by thumping Ely City at the New Croft on Tuesday.

Rovers were 2-0 up after four minutes thanks to goals from Marcus Hunt and Harry Halls, before Richard Chadwick pulled one back after Luke Parkinson's penalty had been saved by Alex Archer.

Jack Wilkinson beat Lee Pacey to make it 3-1 and Dan Cornwell's sliding finish put the hosts 4-1 up at half time.

Paul Abbott was taken to Addenbrooke's Hospital, Cambridge in the first half after being knocked out creating the second goal, and his replacement Ryan Geoghegan and Halls teed up Cornwell for Haverhill's fifth goal after 68 minutes.

Rovers take on Kirkley & Pakefield in the league on Saturday before making the trip to Cambridge on Wednesday to face CRC.

Stowmarket Town 1
Haverhill Rovers 4
FA Cup, extra preliminary round

A SECOND-HALF comeback on Saturday helped Haverhill book their place in the next round.

Peter Betts' men made a poor start and went 1-0 down after 15 minutes.

But Rovers were given a stern talking to by the manager during the interval, and four goals in 15 minutes turned the tie around.

Dan Cornwell equalised three minutes into the second half and two goals from Scott Lodge put Rovers in control. Greg Strong scored a fourth to give the visitors even more breathing space.

"We were abysmal in the first half," said Betts. "They players got a rocket at half time, but they really performed in the second half."

"It was great to see our two new strikers scoring. We brought them in towards the end of pre-season and they have settled in really quickly."
